

600 Enthusiastic Democrats at Dinner Declare 'Happy Days Are Here Again,' Predict Victory

By WILLIAM F. WINTER
"Happy days are here again . . ."
"Let a winner lead the way . . ."

Songs old and new provided a cheerful background here last night for a series of optimistic campaign talks at the annual President John F. Kennedy memorial champagne dinner in Venice.

For a party trailing in pre-election polls for some offices, the Democratic party demonstrated a lot of vitality and enthusiasm.

Six hundred smartly-dressed Madison Countyans paid $25 a plate for the traditional dinner, held in the festively-decorated American Legion Post 307.

The ballroom was transformed into a winter scene—complete with artificial snow on the floor and twinkling snowflakes—suspended from the ceiling—through weeks of advance work by volunteers.

Roger Hoover had created intricate wall designs with string on wire mesh, which then was coated with colorful paper in appropriate hues under the leadership of James "Red" Worthen.

Daniel Walker, candidate for governor, stressed that "when the chips are down, it's the Democratic party that stands up for the rights of the ordinary guy. We are the party of the people."

Thanking the audience for honoring him, Walker and other candidates led applause for all Democratic precinct committeemen present.

Also praised was the chairman of the dinner, Walter

"Buck" Simmons, Appellate Court clerk and Madison County Democratic chairman. He urged straight-ball support of the party.

Congressman Roman Pucinski, nominee for U. S. senator, predicted a Democratic victory Nov. 7 and said he is challenging Sen. Percy to discuss the campaign issues rather than Perry "protecting his image through public relations techniques."

Congressman Melvin Price of this district agreed with the other speakers that "Democrats have concern for the people" and said of the Republican, "By their votes you shall know them." He cited Presidential rejections of railroad pension, welfare and education bills.

Cong. Price, who was given a hearty welcome to the tune of "God Bless America," reported national deficits totaling $30 billion during the past four years, tripling those of the Truman-Eisenhower-Kennedy-Johnson years combined.

Attributing the financial imbalance to the national administration, Price said its policies also added 3% of the entire work force to the number of unemployed.

Price forecast a Democratic upsurge during the next several weeks as voters "study the record." He warned against voters "fooling themselves" by considering only part of the election issues.

State Sen. Thomas Lyons, nominee for Illinois attorney general, pledged to be "attorney for all the people of this state" as well as legal advisor to the governor and state boards, departments and commissions.

Lyons assailed the state income tax for failing to give standard federal deductions to wage earners while "permitting corporations to deduct country club dues, night club visits, yachts and hunting lodges."

Dean Harringer, nominee for comptroller, described the duties of the office as "writing checks and paying bills for the state" and cited his administrative experience in accounting, finance and data processing.

Mayors of Madison, Venice, Collinsville and Maryville were introduced along with county and district candidates.

It was noted that messages had been received from U. S. Senators Stevenson of Illinois and Eagleton of Missouri, Illinois Governor Paul Simon, State Sup. of Public Instruction Michael Bakalis, State Auditor Michael J. Lawler and James R. O'Connell, Democratic chairman.

Governor candidate Walker also spoke yesterday to the Alton-Wood River Federation of Labor and a gathering at SIUE. He visited plant gates of the American Steel Foundries and Granite City Steel Co. early this morning.

Many Groups To Increase IF Pledges

"Continuous giving is the name of the game if we are to have a successful United Fund campaign." Drive Chairman Paul Kelly, A. O. Smith Corp. plant manager, said as the Tri-Cities UF campaign ended its first week.

Kelly said it is too early to tell how the campaign is going. The first official report meeting will be held at noon Wednesday at the YMCA.

"We don't have any pledges to report as yet," he said, "but there are plenty of unexpectedly optimistic indicators, especially in our larger industries that have continuous giving plans."

"It is plain that successful organized giving—by any business or industry or labor union—depends on givers who are willing to put aside small amounts periodically."

"Small amounts that add up to a substantial total by the end of a year."

"These donations can be made by payroll deduction or by people voluntarily putting aside money regularly," he added.

Kelly told of Granite City Steel's Labor-Management 30-Minute Club, which for its first time has voted to permit members to volunteer contributions greater than 30 minutes' pay a month.

Granite City Steel people are now permitted to pledge 40, 50 or 60 minutes of their pay, as well as the basic 30—and the response to a mail campaign has been unexpectedly large.

Carl Bazcanas, chairman of the 30-Minute Club's board of governors, said that hundreds of members, both hourly and salaried, have responded by upping their payroll deductions—and final results aren't complete.

Many of these have gone all the way to 60-minute deductions, he reported.

"The reason," he explained, "is that many of our members are convinced that the only way for the United Fund to receive the support it deserves is for them to increase their level of giving over what it has been in the past."

"Ed Boyer (Local 67) reports discussing the need for increased giving at a meeting of fellow United Steelworkers members and tells me they are genuinely interested in increasing their participation."

At Kelly's A. O. Smith plant, continuous giving is also the key, Charles Baumann, personnel manager, comments.

"We've had a flexible schedule, with employees giving vari-

Homecoming Game, Parade, Play This Week at Granite City High

Traditional homecoming activities at Granite City High School will take place this week starting with a parade and pep rally Wednesday and culminating with the annual homecoming football game pitting the Warriors against the Collinsville Kahoks at 8 p.m. Friday.

Customary crowning of the 1972 Homecoming Queen will highlight events Thursday evening, following presentation by students of "Thurber's Carnival," a collection of skits by James Thurber.

The public is invited to take part in the homecoming festivities which will be launched early Wednesday evening with a parade through Granite City. The colorful cavalcade will feature floats and decorated autos sponsored by clubs and organizations at Granite City High School.

Cash prizes will be awarded to entries judged as outstanding or original, parade sponsors announced today.

Pep Rally Planned
At 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, a giant bonfire will be ignited in Wilson Park, signaling the start of a pep rally in support of the Warrior football team.

High school groups also will sponsor booths on "Carnival Night" Thursday, offering food items and games for the enjoyment of patrons.

The homecoming play will be presented at 8 p.m. Thursday. Both the carnival and play will take place in the GCHS Memorial Gymnasium.

Coronation of the new Homecoming Queen will follow the play. Tickets may be obtained this week from high school speech students.

The game between Collinsville and Granite City at 8 p.m. Friday is expected to draw a capacity crowd. Concluding the annual fall celebration will be the traditional "Homecoming Dance" in the GCHS cafeteria, geared to the theme—"Hit Parade."

Music from the 1930's to modern rock will be featured by a local music group which includes Jerry Brown, principal at Central Junior High School.

"Class Dancers" chosen in previous years at the local high school will attend the dance, it was announced.

The after-game affair is restricted to present GCHS students and alumni, organizers reported.

Governor Race Could Be Close

By KEN WATSON
Capley News Service

Springfield—Daniel Walker is trying to regain the initiative. The Democratic candidate for governor has launched an all-out personal offensive against Republican incumbent Richard B. Ogilvie in an apparent attempt to blunt and reverse a trend that polls show is now starting to run in Ogilvie's favor.

Recent and reliable surveys confirm the statewide view, reported earlier, that although Walker does still hold an edge, Ogilvie is coming up steadily and the race is now an exceedingly close one.

With about 20% of Illinois voters considered undecided in their choice for governor, continuation of the Ogilvie momentum could move him past Walker.

er and provide victory on election day Nov. 7.

Walker has gone all out to halt the Ogilvie surge. In doing so, he has returned to his successful primary campaign tactics which enabled him to upset Ogilvie in the primary.

Like Democratic presidential candidate George McGovern on the national front, Walker is trying hard to tie the twin tags of corruption and political machine on the Ogilvie state administration. As in the primary, Walker is trying to portray himself as foe of political machines and a knight of the people.

But, unlike the primary, he is running into problems.

Simon unwisely— it turned out— tried to ignore the Walker charges linking him with Democratic figures behind the race track stock, and identification with Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley's machine.

In contrast, Ogilvie is fighting back hard.

Walker's attempted exploitation of an unproven charge that Ogilvie's 1968 campaign benefited from a $25,000 contribution from a Chicago race track operator may have failed to score.

Ogilvie tried to blunt it by explaining that his 1968 fund-raising was done by an independent committee.

Ogilvie has also pointed to his record as governor in appointing a strong and independent Illinois Racing Board, ably headed by Alexander MacArthur.

The governor also pushed for and signed legislation which forbids any racing associations from holding interests in them from making contributions to political campaigns.

Walker charges that Ogilvie has permitted state waste spending of education funds and is building a patronage machine among state workers. These are old and familiar political tactics and often are effective.

The corruption issue has been blunted for the Democratic.

Property Tax Freeze Plan

Governor Richard B. Ogilvie proposed five-point tax reform involving a property tax freeze during the fifth debate of the 1972 Illinois governor campaign Friday in Chicago.

Gov. Ogilvie, Republican, and Daniel Walker, Democrat, gave 12-minute talks and answered questions from a panel of political writers at the annual Illinois State Chamber of Commerce convention.

Walker accused the present administration of "mismanagement." He repeated charges of waste in welfare, environmental protection and medical aid payments, and said Gov. Ogilvie is "ducking the responsibility."

The governor termed this "a Democratic refrain that we've heard over and over. The charges have been answered."

Ogilvie charged Walker with fence-straddling on a graduated income tax, citing past campaign literature which he says shows that Walker had graduated tax through the use of tax credits.

Walker said it is "a manufactured issue" and added, "I do not want any tampering with the Revenue Article. I do not want a graduated income tax."

Both received applause from the gathering of 1,000 when they promised, in almost the same words, "No new taxes."

Gov. Ogilvie, chiding Walker for a "negative campaign," announced "a declaration of war against unrestrained property taxes." He said the state will use funds received from federal revenue sharing to impose a statewide freeze on local-level real estate taxes.

In addition, Ogilvie said, he will use shared funds for increased grants to schools, including sharing of new construction costs with school districts. He said further details will be given prior to the Nov. 7 election.

Picketing at Air Products

Workers at the three Air Products Chemical plants in this area struck Saturday after the company and the Steelworkers of America Local 6063, AFL-CIO, failed to reach agreement on a new contract.

The former three-year contract expired at midnight Friday. Negotiating committees met until 9 a.m. Saturday attempting to reach agreement.

The negotiations resumed at 8 a.m. Saturday and union representatives presented a three-year proposal to the membership at a meeting at 9 a.m. Saturday in the Labor Temple here.

The proposal, which was not endorsed by the union leadership, was rejected, a Steelworkers spokesman said. There were no plans today for further negotiations.

The strike closed the Air Products acetylene plant at 205 Madison Ave., and the hydrogen plant at Sauget. The main air plant at 2204 Monroe St., remained in operation during the weekend and today staffed by supervisors and company personnel, a company spokesman said.

The air plant supplies oxygen to the Basic Oxygen Furnace Department at Granite City Steel Co.

The strike affects 34 Steelworkers, including about eight at the acetylene plant and two at the hydrogen facility. The remainder are employed at the main air plant.

A union spokesman said the main issues unsettled are working conditions and wages.

Voter Registration Deadline Tomorrow

MORE ABOUT Governor Race

crats this year because of a series of federal indictments involving former Gov. Otto Kerner and key aides on race track involvement, vote fraud charges and alleged conflict of interest profiteering in the office of Popular Cook County Clerk Edward J. Barrett.

Also, in contrast to the primary, Walker has opened a credibility gap of his own as far as the bossism issue is concerned, by publicly cozying up to Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley and welcoming the support of the organization he attacked in the primary and even for a while afterwards.

In the statewide view, Walker's return to his previous free-wheeling strategy was prompted by a flood of newspaper editorials and columns, most contrasting his proven record of performance with Walker's vague promises of what he would do if governor.

At this stage, this remains as the dominant issue of the governor's race.

United Fund

ous amounts through payroll deduction, and we've just completed making personal contacts with all employees to ask them to raise their contributions to 60 minutes a month, if they would.

"We give our three unions credit for doing all the solicitation of fellow shop employees."

More than 20 volunteers from the United Auto Workers, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and International Association of Machinists personally contacted everyone on the shop payroll to ask if they would increase their deductions to as much as 60 minutes' pay.

"While we didn't get everyone to reach that level, we're very happy with the result. "We estimate more than a 50% increase in the total contribution of A. G. Smith employees, with some 40 going to the 60-minute level."

A similar success story is being told at the United Foundries, where salaried people have set an example by increasing their donations to 57%.

A month-long campaign is under way to seek similar boosts by hourly employees.

Tom Majewski, American Steel's works controller, reports that union representatives have been cooperative in working to increase the amount of their payroll deductions.

"We've had remarkable success so far," he said. "Participation in continuous giving is 94.8% of all employees, and we started a week a campaign to contact all employees who wish to do that."

Majewski praised the United Steelworkers, the International Association of Machinists, the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers and Patternmakers for their cooperation.

The union men have teamed with management representatives to contact all ASF employees on a department-by-department basis.

Although we plan to finish the job by the end of October, the campaign is already over and we have a 100% department where the people have pledged to double their donations."

Contributions collected in 1972 at American Steel go toward the 1973 campaign of the United Fund.

This means the full effect of the greater participation by employees will not be felt until 1974.

News Notes

A multi-million-dollar park project—linking the Horseshoe Lake and Cahokia Mounds state parks—is continuing to receive study as a possible U.S. bicentennial undertaking.

With the federal government preparing for the nation's 200th birthday in 1976, Illinois is to be allocated $23 million and there is hope that this area can qualify for most of that amount.

The history of Madison County parallels that of the U.S., and this county at one time covered an area now occupied by a number of states.

Lewis and Clark Community College, Bellevue Area College, Blackburn College at Carlinville, Kaskaskia at Centralia, MacMurray at Jacksonville and Illinois Valley Community College at Ogleby have formed the Illinois Educational Council for joint purchasing with a goal of financial savings.

Unemployment dropped 0.1% to 5.9% during September, giving hope that a 9% year-end goal may be reached.

About 30 people attended a County Zoning Appeals Board hearing last week to protest a petition by Charles Whitehead, owner, and Daniel Calloway, developer, for establishment of a country club on a 54-acre Bend Road tract in Nameoki Township, south of Horseshoe Lake.

Private recreation facilities are proposed and members are to be U.S. Louisians.

Nameoki Supervisor Louis Whittle disagreed with the proposed location and said traffic and sewers would be problems. Speaking for 85 who have signed a petition against the zoning change, David Moss said, "A country club is just another name for a tavern."

A Price Commission ruling Friday cut in half an increase in the deductible cost that medicare recipients will begin paying to hospitals next year. They will pay the first $72 of their hospital bills, $4 more than the $68 but less than the $76 that would have been charged without the ruling.

Clark, Alton Republican, is among several being considered by U.S. Senator Charles H. Percy as his recommendation to replace U.S. District Judge Omer Poon when the latter retires. The 23-county South District of Illinois convenes in Springfield, Quincy and Alton, Clark, 54, was defeated in 1970 balloting for a seat on the Illinois Supreme Court. He has been a circuit judge 16 years.

U.S. Senator Charles H. Percy, Illinois Republican, said Thursday in Washington that the Democratic Presidential nominee has no special ability to end the Vietnam war: "If you can't understand the structure in the Democratic organization, how can you understand the intricacies of the Asiatic mind and the problems that exist?" Percy called Mr. Nixon "a great President for foreign affairs."

Skate School to Offer New Style Instruction

New procedures for handling youthful skaters in the Granite City Park District's "Skate School" program at Wilson Park rink on Saturday mornings were announced today by Harold Brown, park superintendent.

This season, Brown said, registrations will be taken in advance of classes starting Saturday session set aside for tests, he explained.

Participants in the "Skate School" this year may earn badges for different degrees in skating ability starting at the beginner level and progressing through Alpha, Beta, Gamma and freestyle (levels 1-9).

The two-hour instruction period will be divided this season into separate units each of one-hour duration, the park official said.

Gamma and freestyle (1-9 level) students will receive instruction from 10:30 until 11:30 a.m., with skaters in the beginner, Alpha and Beta classes to be instructed from 11:30 a.m. until 12:30 p.m.

Any resident of the Granite City Park District is eligible to attend the school, Brown said, noting there is no age restriction. Only the regular price of admission to the rink is charged, with no additional fees levied for instruction.

The "Skate School" program will be directed by three rink professionals and skate guards. At the present time, the plan is to limit the size of each class to 15 pupils, Brown said.

Registration for the classes will be accepted by calling the Wilson Park rink at 877-2549 during the hours the facility is operating, Brown said.

GC Meter Revenue Drops in September

Granite City collections from parking meters last month dipped to $3,582, including $3,001 in fees and $581 in fines.

The amount was lower than August collections which totaled $4,468 but the fluctuation in the amount was due to a new collection system in which fees are collected from different areas each month, Paul Rutledge, Granite City treasurer, said in releasing the monthly report.

Total collections for the first nine months of the year are $37,449, exceeding the $34,392 collected in the same period of 1971.

Meters operated 25 days in September and the average daily collection was $143, the lowest since $128 per day in May. The average daily collection in August was $165.

Hero of Fire Rescue is Awarded Medal of Valor

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer

George Brimm, 2314 Logan St., was awarded the Medal of Valor, the highest honor that can be paid by the Royal Ranger church civic organization, during a special recognition service at Bethel Chapel Pentecostal Church, 25th and Ohio Streets.

It was the first time the award has been presented in Illinois.

Brimm was honored for saving the lives of an elderly man and a baby in a mobile home fire Dec. 15, 1971.

Brimm and his wife, Arlene, were driving past the mobile home of Larry Chaffin, 2361 North St., when they saw smoke coming from the home. They stopped at the house of a neighbor to report the fire and were told Chaffin was asleep in the mobile home.

Two small children were in front of the home and while Brimm's wife took them to the neighbor, Brimm opened the trailer door and called several times to awaken Chaffin.

When Chaffin came to the door, he said an 8-month-old baby was asleep in the house. Brimm entered but was unable to locate the crib. On his second trip inside, he found the baby and brought it outside.

Had to Try
"I will admit I thought about not doing it, but I figured I could not live with myself if I didn't try," he said.

The award was presented before the church congregation by Major Burlie Hoffstat, Section 9 Royal Ranger commander, who commended Brimm for fearlessness, courage and bravery under unusual circumstances.

Brimm also was given the Medal of Achievement in a joint presentation with three other recipients, Larry Blackwell, Don Stewart and Dwayne Hoxsey, all of Granite City.

Eldin Rea, advancement coordinator, also presented two awards as Hoxsey was given his advanced rating pioneer award and Mark Rea received his first class trailblazer award.

Patterson will be stationed on the west coast. He enlisted under the Navy's new Seafarer and Airman Program which allows him to enlist for three years and be assigned to the coast of his choice.

He is a 1972 graduate of Madison High School.

Peer Counseling for Students Set at SIUE

Students who feel they need to talk over a problem can find someone their own age who will listen at the Student Activities Office at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The peer counseling service is part of the student orientation program at SIUE and includes 17 undergraduates who will take the time to listen to students' problems.

The 17 counselors were picked through a series of interviews by Student Activities staff members and are attending training sessions under the direction of Terrence Roben of the SIUE counselor education department.

According to Jim Rotter, a counselor education major and one of the peer counselors, the program was set up as a counseling center and referral service.

Rotter and the other counselors are in the belief that some students would rather talk to someone their own age about various problems bothering them.

The counseling service was initiated to help students find answers to their problems. "But we aren't by any means trying to pass as professional counselors," Rotter said.

In the area of referral, the project helps guide a student who is interested in working on one of the various student committees by telling him who to see and what each committee does.

"In our training, we gained a great deal of knowledge about what the university has to offer the students, and how they can find what they're looking for," Rotter said.

The service is available to students from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. week days in the Student Activities Office on the first floor of the University Center.

Federal Service Exams Set at SIUE Oct. 28

The federal service entrance examination will be given at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville at 8:30 a.m. Oct. 28 in the Peck Classroom Building, Room 308.

The two-hour qualification examination is used as the principal source to recruit graduates in social science, humanities, business and public administration for professional and management training positions in federal agencies.

An application should be filled out in advance at the SIUE Placement Office, Room 023 of the General Office Building. Sample questions and additional information on federal employment opportunities are included in the application material.

Penalties, Enemy Goalline Stands Thwart Trojan Eleven Here, 20-0

By ROY JACKSON
MHS Football Writer
The Sparta Bulldogs built a 14-0 halftime lead over the Madison Trojans here Saturday and maintained it until the fourth quarter, when they added another six points to win 20-0.
Sparta's first touchdown was scored by Halfback Randy Valter on a three-yard run in the first period. The extra point kick failed.
Madison had plenty of time to tie the score and move in front, but failed in each attempt, sometimes within a few yards of the goalline. The quarter ended 6-0.
The Bulldogs' next touchdown was made by Halfback David St. James on another three-yard run. A pass was good for the extra point and made it 14-0.

Madison's offense and Sparta's defense tangled quite a bit during the third quarter, when neither team was able to score.
Sparta's final touchdown came from Fullback John Smith, who ran two yards for that score. An extra point kick failed.
The Trojans once more had a good chance to break the scoring tie. But Madison's attempts were in vain during the fourth quarter as Penalty flags dropped every time MHS moved into scoring position.
Coach Al Vander Haar of Madison said, "I don't know what to blame today's game on; I've run out of excuses. "We can't blame in on fundamentals any more. The players know what they are supposed to do, but sometimes they just don't do it."

Players who have the physical characteristics of potentially good football players aren't doing the job; it's being done by those who have less athletic ability but more desire to see the job gets done.
"It's a shame to lose to a team like Sparta that doesn't have the raw ability that we have. The Bulldogs don't have the potential that Eureka has, and yet we score against Eureka."
"We've got some of the best 'almost' receivers around."

Defense Shines as Warriors Rally To Win 7-6 on Alton High Gridiron

By SCOTT HARRISON
GCHS Football Writer
"A defensive victory all the way," Coach Wayne Williams said in evaluating the GCHS Warriors' second Northwestern Conference win. The local team defeated the Alton Redskins 7-6 Saturday afternoon at Alton.
In a college-like stadium, a sunken playing field with rising concrete bleachers, triumph came in the final quarter of the game.
GCHS kicked off to open the game. Alton's TD came in the initial quarter as Quarterback Robert Davis passed to Robert Meyers on a 45-yard play.
An extra point attempt failed when the kick was wide to the left, and Alton led 6-0.
The game became a kicking exhibition for the rest of the first half. Walter Milton doing the Warrior punting.

Warrior cheerleaders led a large delegation of GCHS fans in cheering, aiding the team's spirit.
Granite City received the kickoff to get the second half under way, and punting situations still confronted both teams until the end of the third quarter.
The Warriors then started a drive resulting in their only touchdown. Quarterback Dave Dembeck combined running and passing plays to maneuver the ball to the Alton 19-yard line.
A completed pass to Halfback Dale Williams by Dembeck tied the score 6-6 early in the fourth period. Pressure was intense because of the tie score; all that was needed for the win was the extra point.

The GCHS offensive line blocked hard, enabling Brad Hiles to kick the crucial extra point neatly through the uprights.
In two runs, Alton lost to its 23 and a pass failed.
Granite City earned a first down on runs by Jon Stagner and a keeper by Donbeck, but Alton eventually had to kick to the Alton 30.
Anthony Joeli ran for a first down. Grabbing a face mask was called on a Greg Stockard run, and the ball was set at the GCHS 40.
Believed to be an incomplete pass, a bobbled ball was caught by a Redbird at the 36. Alton tried for a first down but a pass failed.
Taking over on their 36, the Warriors pushed out of their territory on two runs by Gary Lively. A face mask penalty against Alton put the ball on the Redbird 40.
Stagner carried to the 36 and an offside penalty put the pignskin on the 31.
Runs by Stagner and Williams advanced the ball but on fourth down at the 14, Quarterback Dembeck ran and was stopped short of a first down.
Nearing the end of the game, Alton tried to drive downfield but the tough GCHS defensive unit stopped the march by forcing a fumble which Keith Hollis recovered.
Forty seconds remained, and one play succeeded in running out the clock.
GCHS will host Collinsville at 8 p.m. Friday for the Warriors' homecoming game.

Soccer Cougars Romp At Chicago Circle 5-0

Coach Bob Guelker continued to get standout performances from his freshman crop of soccer players at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville Saturday when his Cougar kickers invaded the Windy City and romped over the University of Illinois, Chicago Circle, 5-0.
It was sweet revenge for the Cougars. Last season, Circle came within minutes of upsetting the Cougars, only to settle for a 1-1 tie and two scoreless five-minute overtimes.
In running their record to 3-0, the nationally third-ranked Cougars from the opening kick made it clear that there wasn't going to be any deadlock this time. At 15:36 into the first half, Chris Carezza took a feed pass from frosh John Stremleau and game SIUE the lead, 1-0. Twenty minutes later, on a setup by Stremleau, Bobby Kessen put the Cougars in front, 2-0.
Joe Gallagher put the game out of Circle's reach when, four minutes into the second half, he soloed in to score. At 33 minutes into the final half, defensive ace Kevin Howe took a pass from Tom Twellman and drilled one into the cords. Five minutes later, Stremleau completed the scoring on an assist from Carezza.
This week, the Cougars will play in the first annual Illinois University Soccer Tournament on Friday and Saturday at DeKalb. Along with SIUE, there is the host Northern, Western and Eastern Illinois teams.
In the tourney's first game at 1 p.m. Friday, SIUE will play Western's Leathernecks. Saturday night at 8:30, the Cougars will take on Northern. It will be the first time Southern has played Western and Northern.
The Cougars will open their home campaign at 4:15 p.m. Tuesday, Oct. 17, against the University of Missouri, St. Louis.

Rain Ends Year At Race Track

The auto racing season at the Tri-City Speedway came to a damp end Friday night as rain forced cancellation of the final race of the season. The event was to have been a rain date for a super-sprint and hobo car program originally set for Sept. 22.
Rain nixed nine events at the track this year, including four of the last five. The only event run since Sept. 1 was the United States Auto Club midweek race Sept. 30.
With the cancellation of the final event, Wild Spalading of Pontoon Beach was officially named the track champion in both the super-sprint and late model stock car racing divisions.

Keith Moran, quarterback for the Prather ninth grade football Chiefs, led his team to a 52-14 victory over Madison as he scored four touchdowns Thursday on the Prather field.
Adding to the Chiefs' impressive score were Frank Barunica who scored two TDs and made a two-point conversion and defensive halfback Randy Keeton who intercepted a Trojan pass and ran the ball for the big six and then ran a two-point conversion. Allan Benko also helped with a two-point conversion.

SIUE Women's Field Hockey Team Wins Season's Opener

Women's intercollegiate athletics at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville got off on the right foot in mid-week of last week as the SIUE women's field hockey team defeated Greenville College 2-1 at the SIUE hockey field.

Candy Hallam, right inner of Greenville, made the first goal late in the first half. Left inner Barbara Maize of SIUE came back in the second half with two goals. Greenville made several attempts to score in the second half with two goals. Greenville made several attempts to score in the second half but was held back by the SIUE defense.

The SIUE women's field hockey team is in its initial season. According to Rosemarie Archangel, women's athletic director at SIUE, the team looked good in two games won last week at a St. Louis field hockey clinic.

"For our first official game, I think the girls did very well," Coach Archangel said. The next game will be Oct. 11 when SIUE visits Principia College at 3:30 p.m.

Armed Robber Gets $50 at Service Station

An armed robber holding a tan winter coat over his head held up the attendant at the Moto Service Station, 17th Street and Madison Avenue, at 8:15 p.m. Friday and escaped with $50 in currency.

Traffic Deaths Down 52% Here

Traffic accidents in the Quad-City area increased substantially in September over those of the previous month, but the ratio of traffic fatalities dropped sharply in comparison with September, 1971. The reduction in traffic deaths continued a downward pattern that has been developing since the first of this year.

A total of 191 accidents were recorded for the Quad-Cities in September, with 87 persons injured and one person killed. The number of injury cases also showed a substantial decline last month.

During the previous month of August, there were 151 accidents, with 102 persons injured and three killed. In September 1971, statistics showed a total of 123 traffic accidents, 33 injuries and three fatalities.

The one traffic death in September brought to 18 the total number of traffic deaths in the area during thence months of this year, compared with 38 in 1971, a decrease of 52%.

September's 191 accidents brought the total for the year thus far to 1,557, an increase of 127 over the 1,430 reported for the same nine months of last year, or an increase of 8%.

Injury cases total 639 for the nine-month period, down from 712 during the same period in 1971, a decrease of 10.2%.

Three Hurt in Tavern Fight

A disturbance at the Mill Tavern, 14th and State Streets, at 1:25 a.m. Saturday, resulted in injuries to three persons and the arrest of two others in connection with the incident about two hours later.

Police arrested Jerry C. Warrack, 27, for whom no address was listed, on a charge of aggravated battery and Helen M. Easton, 22, of 2001 Washington Ave., on a charge of unlawful use of a weapon, at 3:35 a.m. Saturday at 16th Street and Madison Avenue.

Officers said the arrests stemmed from a fight earlier at the Mill Tavern during which Warrack allegedly struck one man on the head with a pistol, hit another man with a chair and also struck a third man. Between 25 and 30 customers were in the tavern when the fight occurred, police reported.

Witnesses said that two women were fighting when the boy friend of one woman, a Madison man, went to her aid. Police said he was hit by Warrack with a chair.

Donald Valencia, 28, of 1027 Madison Ave., was struck by Warrack with a pistol, police said, after Valencia attempted to break up the fight.

When police arrived at the tavern they said they found Valencia bleeding profusely from the head. Mrs. Lorraine Wetzel, 37, of 195 Sunny Shore Acres, was lying on the floor in a semi-conscious condition and Anthony Gemanceri, 38, of 2217 Washington Ave., had suffered a cut to the forehead.

All three were taken by ambulance to St. Elizabeth Hospital. Valencia, who lost consciousness, was transferred to Firm Desloge Hospital, St. Louis. Mrs. Wetzel was admitted at the local hospital and Gemanceri was treated in the emergency room and released.

Warrack and the Easton woman were apprehended while traveling in an auto headed south on Madison Avenue. A Granite City woman who owned the vehicle and was a passenger was not arrested.

The Madison man who was struck with a chair did not seek medical attention, police said.

AS LONG AS NECESSARY

One of the hardest things the doctor has to do is to persuade his patients to keep on taking their medicine as long as he thinks it necessary. Many people think that they are cured just because they start to feel better. However, many drugs do not cure—they are taken to control an illness.

Don't fear taking your medicine. Instead place your confidence in the knowledge and experience of your physician and follow his instructions exactly. He knows what a drug can and cannot do and how long it will usually take to get the job done.

48,000 Acres Purchased For State Park Usage

Copley News Service

Springfield—Illinois' program to purchase lands for parks and outdoor recreation continues to move along.

The program, under the direction of the Conservation Department, has resulted in the purchase of some 48,000 acres in the last three years. This means that there was a 40% increase in the land that was available for public use in 1969. A report from department Director Henry Barkhausen's office shows that Illinois continues its program to try to get more land for public use.

The land acquisition program has paved the way for the opening of 13 new parks and recreational-conservation areas. It has also provided the needed land for the expansion of some park facilities.

Also nature preserves are being expanded. A new nature preserve area is being opened to the public in Johnson County. One of the largest new parks to be opened in the Goose Lake Prairie Park in Grundy County. When the park is completed, usage is expected to be heavy because of its proximity to the population-heavy northeast area.

The department has been concentrating an effort to add more land in the northeast section of Illinois. One example is the addition of the Volo Bog Nature Preserve. The Department is also trying to add a great deal of land to the Kankakee River State Park and the Illinois Beach State Park.

The department is aiming to spend some $20 million in its land acquisition for fiscal 1973. It is hoped by department officials that some 16,000 to 18,000 acres of land can be added.

But it must also be pointed out that the type of land that the Department is seeking is becoming difficult to find. The department is after land that is suitable for outdoor recreation. Of course sometimes the obtaining of some land ends up in court and this takes time.

The department is also hopeful that a bond program, which Gov. Richard B. Ogilvie proposed to the General Assembly and was approved, will also help in acquiring needed land and facilities.

Vast Improvement Seen in Water Quality

The fight to save Illinois waterways from the blight of pollution showed marked success during the year ending June 30, according to new water quality data released by the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency.

Dramatic increases in helpful dissolved oxygen and comparable decreases in harmful fecal coliform occurred in fiscal year 1972, the report indicated. Fiscal year 1972 covers the time span from July 1, 1971 to June 30, 1972.

For the first time every river basin in Illinois bettered Pollution Control Board standards for dissolved oxygen average for a fiscal year. The amount of dissolved oxygen is an indicator of the water's ability to support aquatic life.

Of the 17 basins that had dissolved oxygen data recorded for fiscal 1971, ten showed fiscal 1972 increases in the chemical, while only five showed decreases and two remained the same.

William L. Blaser, director of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, announced the state-wide improvement in water quality in a speech to the Illinois Wildlife Federation in Springfield.

Fecal coliform, bacteria which originate in the intestinal tracts of warm-blooded animals, usually appear in waters as a result of sewage treatment plant discharges, combined sewer overflows and feedlot runoff, explained Daniel J. Goodwin, manager of the Division of Water Pollution Control's Performance Measurement Section.

Density Decreased

Decreases in fecal coliform density were recorded at 164 stations as compared to increases at only 106. Seven stations showed no change, and 338 had no fiscal year 1971 data for comparison.

The Kankakee River showed the greatest reduction in the bacteria. Substantial deterioration of the Ohio River and the Lake Michigan tributaries (Waukegan River and Pettibone Creek) was noted. However, with a large increase in the density of fecal coliform, the Lake Michigan tributaries are small streams that feed the lake.

Nevertheless, both shore water and open water of Lake Michigan bettered strict state standards by a wide margin. The DuPage River and the Sanitary and Ship Canal on the DesPlaines River showed the greatest increases in dissolved oxygen during fiscal 1972.

Averages of all tests taken from the Sanitary and Ship Canal now meet the Pollution Control Board standard of not less than 6.0 milligrams per liter of water during at least 16 hours of any 24-hour period and not less than 5.0 milligrams per liter at any time. It was the only sub-basin below the standard in fiscal year 1971.

Some Vary Widely

Obviously, even though the average of all tests taken on a river may meet standards, there may be individual locations which vary widely from the average.

In addition to compiling water quality data, the Environmental Protection Agency also prepares a list of the 25 sampling stations at which the fecal coliform density is highest and dissolved oxygen averages are lowest, based on water quality data.

The worst fecal coliform average for the year ending June 30, 1972—236,570 units per 100 milliliters of water—was found at a sampling station on the Big Muddy River near West Frankfort. The Pollution Control Board standard is 200 units per 100 milliliters of water.

Dissolved oxygen averages for fiscal 1972 were poorest at two stations on the Chicago Sanitary and Ship Canal. An average of 2.1 milligrams per liter of water was recorded at these stations.

Rankings of Illinois river basins by averages of dissolved oxygen and fecal coliform density summaries laboratory results on water taken from 618 sampling stations in fiscal year 1972.

More Sampling Sites

The Division of Water Pollution Control increased the number of sampling locations by 154 from the 1971 total of 464. The number of routine samples which were taken in fiscal 1972 increased more than 25% over fiscal 1971 sampling, according to Goodwin.

"The expansion represents an increased concentration of efforts to upgrade water quality in Illinois and to better protect the health of Illinois citizens," said EPA Director William L. Blaser.

The EPA has now reached the level of sampling stations necessary to insure effective monitoring of river basins in Illinois, Goodwin said. Stations are located at accessible points on major rivers, on their tributaries, and along Lake Michigan.

Fiscal year data comparisons of sampling network activity show the following expansion:

Number of stations, 464 in 1971 and 618 in 1972. Number of samples, 4,838 in 1971 and 5,523 in 1972.

In a continuing effort to provide Illinois citizens more frequent evaluations on the quality of waterways in the state, the EPA is now publishing results of water quality sampling on a quarterly basis. Reports were released annually in the past.

Fecal coliform data have been reported as geometric averages for the first time as prescribed by the Pollution Control Board. Previously, arithmetic averages were used.

Fecal coliform density and dissolved oxygen averages for Illinois river basins and Lake Michigan, and the rating of the "25 worst" sampling stations appear in lists just issued by the IEPA.

Madison County is not on any of the "worst" lists.

Absentee Voting Dates Scheduled By County Clerk

The first day for civilian voters to apply for absentee ballot is Tuesday and the last day to apply by mail to the county clerk is Nov. 2, County Clerk Eulalia Holz said today.

The voter's application must be received by the county clerk's office by 5 p.m. on the final date.

Persons wishing to vote in person in the county clerk's office in Edwardsville may do so through Nov. 3 and on Saturday, Nov. 4, from 9 a.m. until noon, Miss Holz said.

Applications for absentee ballots may be secured from the county clerk's office only.

Miss Holz stated that 1,247 applications have been received from men and women in the service. Ballots will be mailed to them as soon as they are received from the printers.

Miss Holz said the printing of ballots was delayed by a court case to determine whether the Communist Party and circuit clerks would appear on the ballot.

Miss Holz said that the law permits mother, father, sister, brother, or spouse of any person in the United States service to make application on their behalf. These applications also must be secured directly from the county clerk's office.

Incapacitated voters may cast an absentee ballot by filing a special application which incorporates a verification from their physician attesting to their inability to go to the polls.

Smoking Not Addictive -- But Withdrawal Far from Easy

With American sales of cigarettes on the increase despite a ban on television advertising, the question of why persons continue smoking despite evidence it is harmful to health is a puzzle.

Kenneth Kleinman, psychology professor at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, said many of the traditional theories of why persons smoke do not hold up under scrutiny.

Kleinman is doing research to test his three-step hypothesis that chronic smokers (a) are unable to effectively regulate their level of arousal; (b) use nicotine as an external aid to correct that inability; (c) have their smoking behavior reinforced when their performance of everyday tasks improves.

"Such a rigidity in the habits of chronic smokers indicates profound adaptive values for these persons," Kleinman said. "If smoking is persistent it may be beneficial behaviorally for certain smokers."

The theory that chronic smoking is attributable to nicotine addiction is questioned by Kleinman.

"Not every person who begins smoking in adolescence becomes a confirmed chronic smoker in his adult life," he said. "Many people can and do stop. Others maintain a low, voluntary rate of smoking all through their lives."

Kleinman said that although some theories state that the unpleasantness of withdrawal effects may keep smokers from quitting, no study has determined conclusively that there are even mild withdrawal effects in all smokers.

"In any case, the withdrawal effects of smoking are nowhere near as difficult as with morphine or heroin," Kleinman said.

He said another common theory that chronic smoking is learned behavior has not been convincingly supported.

"Since what is learned can presumably be unlearned, several strategies to modify smoking have been built around behavior-modification techniques," Kleinman said. "But none of the available smoking modification techniques has demonstrated any great degree of effectiveness."

Since not all persons smoke to varying degrees, nicotine must have different rewards for different persons, he said.

Kleinman is investigating the psychological and physiological effects of smoking. He said the common belief that nicotine is always a stimulant to the central nervous system may not be correct.

"Many people tend to smoke when they're nervous, overexcited or anxious. Presumably smoking helps reduce the intensity of these feelings. Why would smokers use a stimulant for its apparently sedative effects?"

He said nicotine given to rats during the day when they normally sleep did increase activity, but nicotine given to rats at night, when they are usually active, decreased their activity.

These data and others indicate to Kleinman that smoking may have a bi-directional effect at low levels of arousal it may act as a stimulant and at high levels of arousal it may act as a depressant, depending upon the effects of nicotine on each individual smoker.

He has conducted a preliminary study of smokers who were asked not to smoke for 12 hours before a series of physiological tests including heart rate and galvanic skin response. Measurements were recorded when the smokers first reported and continued while each volunteer relaxed for 15 minutes and then smoked his own brand of cigarette at his own rate.

The results showed generally that volunteers with high arousal levels decreased those levels, while those with low arousal levels increased their levels by smoking.

Kleinman conducted another experiment involving non-smokers, smokers deprived for 24 hours and smokers not deprived at all. They were given performance tasks, one relatively simple and one more difficult.

"Deprived smokers performed better on the easier task and worse on the more difficult task than either of the two other groups," Kleinman said. We conclude that smoking deprivation produced definite signs of withdrawal effects, taking the form of an increase in arousal facilitating performance on the easier task and retarded performance on the one that was more difficult."

"The biggest problem is that rewards are long-term; for example, smokers are told if they stop they may not develop lung cancer in 30 years," Kleinman said. "But there are short-term effects that are negative."

"If we're going to get people to stop, we must understand more fully why they smoke in the first place."

performance on the one that was more difficult."

Kleinman, who used to smoke but now smokes only moderately after three years of abstinence, said more research needs to be done.

"There's remarkably little sound experimental evidence on why people smoke and what happens to them when they stop," he said.

Though some methods produce short-term results, Kleinman said follow-up studies indicate that as many as 90% return to smoking within six months.

"The biggest problem is that rewards are long-term; for example, smokers are told if they stop they may not develop lung cancer in 30 years," Kleinman said. "But there are short-term effects that are negative."

"If we're going to get people to stop, we must understand more fully why they smoke in the first place."

The "hot buy" this week at your one-stop shopping supermarket is support panty hose. Since we have been in the panty hose business many of our customers have asked if we could get support panty hose and we have told them that we could not get first quality support panty hose at a reasonable price. Now we have them—the highest quality at the lowest price heard of for first quality support panty hose. We are selling them for $1.50 a pair. They are priced from the factory at $4.50. These panty hose are almost impossible to snag. Buy now, and save $2.96 on each pair.

We had such a roaring response to our Melmac dinner plates that we gave with each $7.50 purchase, we have ordered and received a few more of them. They are on sale in our "non-food" corner for the low low price of 4 for $1.00.

Several of our customers have asked about work shirts. We have a fabulous buy on mens work shirts. These are used work shirts from a uniform laundry service that went out of business. These shirts are selling at 3 for $1.00. That is correct—3 shirts for only $1.00. Where can you buy shirts at that price?—Only at your one-stop shopping supermarket.

Weight Watchers are sorry if you were one of the people that could not get all of the Weight Watchers ice cream you wanted last week. We had such a great response to this new item that we were out of it for several hours last week. It is now in full supply at Schermers Supermarket.

Where Does All Our Money Go? Or, Don't Call My Necessities a Luxury

Helpful analyses of how families can cope with the challenges of living in the 1970s are prepared from time to time by a group known as the Family Economics Bureau.

The latest study deals with balancing the family budget and concludes that it is "never-ending battle." Most Quad-Cityans would heartily agree with that.

Although advances in the cost of living have been slower, the cost does continue to inch upward, requiring more money to run a household than it did last year or the year before.

And there is another factor in the picture—changes in family spending patterns that have occurred in the past 20 years.

Using 1967 dollars—the government's base for measuring the consumer price index—1950 it would have bought $1.39 worth of goods and services, in 1960 just $1.12 and in 1970 only 86 cents worth.

In other words, the purchasing power of the dollar decreased to 61.9% of the previous level during those two decades.

As cost of goods and services have gone up, so have incomes.

In 1950, half of American families were making $5,000 or less; half were making that much or more.

By 1960, the median family income was $5,962 and by 1970 it was $9,432. In the 20-year period, the median family income went up 58%.

Where the rub comes in is the way families spend their money. What used to be regarded as luxuries have now become necessities. Many of the goods and services people are buying today were not even available in 1950.

More and more of the foods purchased are convenience foods—with the work of preparation taken out. And more meals are being eaten away from home.

The cost of appliances, power tools and equipment has not risen appreciably, but people have more of them and they cost more to maintain.

In fact, service industries of all kinds are taking an increasingly larger share of the consumer's dollar.

Keep Selective Service System—Even if Draft Is Zero

Copley News Service

President Nixon is now convinced it is safe to allow presidential authorization for draft inductions to expire next July 1.

Thus he draws in sight of the "zero draft calls" which have been his aim since he assumed office.

A discordant note, however, has been sounded by Rep. F. Edward Hebert, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee and an astute critic of military manpower programs.

To him, the evidence that an all-volunteer Army can be created and sustained without the draft is not fully persuasive.

This divergence of opinion points up the difference between two draft calls and the abandonment of the draft itself.

It isn't a difference evident on close reading of the 1972 platforms adopted by the Democratic and Republican parties.

The GOP platform supports the concept of an all-volunteer Army, and notes the great progress made since 1969 in draft reform and in the lowering of induction quotas.

It looks optimistically toward "a zero draft that will enlarge the personal freedom of millions of young Americans."

The Democrats wrapped the entire complex issue into a simplistic six-word sentence: "We urge abolition of the draft."

This suggests the Democrats would go beyond zero draft calls and repeal the basic Selective Service law.

Republicans would allow the law to remain on the books but remove a sentence which gives the President authority to conscript men.

It is one thing for the President to forego the use of his induction authority while an experiment in all-volunteer enlistments is carried out.

It is quite another for that authority to be legally rescinded, necessitating full Congressional action to have it restored.

There is even worse to consider dismantling the system for registration and classification of young men, which must remain intact if there is to be any hope of effective and timely mobilization in a national emergency.

President Nixon has pointed out that his willingness to give up induction authority and bank on the success of an all-volunteer program still hinges on Congress adopting legislation that will add further financial inducements of enlistment.

Congressman Hebert would require even more. He wants further evidence that such inducements will work.

Defense Secretary Melvin Laird and his advisers are convinced they will, even if enlistments already are showing a decline in quantity and quality as draft calls diminish.

In the atmosphere of a campaign year in which the youth vote is being regarded as a critical factor, it is hard for anyone in public life to say a kind word about Selective Service.

However, eagerness to be on the side of the angels on the draft issue should not lead to the false and inherently dangerous hope that the Selective System itself can be abandoned.

System to 'Help' Grows Bigger, Costlier But Fails To Solve People's Increasingly Complex Problems

By ELLIOTT L. RICHARDSON
U. S. Secretary of Health, Education and Welfare

Something has gone terribly wrong with the way we try to help our fellow Americans.

It isn't that we don't care. And it isn't that we don't try.

One of the very best things about our country is that we have never lost our willingness to lend a hand when a neighbor is down or hurt and honestly can't help himself.

But more than time separates us from the day when "helping" meant rebuilding a man's barn.

It's gotten a lot more complicated. The person who needs help today might be an isolated old person, without friends or family; or a child in an inner-city slum.

His needs are likely to be many and interrelated—things like the wrong kind of food or not being able to read or write, or a crippling disability, or alcohol or drugs—all compounded by a sense of complete hopelessness.

And these problems can get tangled together in one person like a ball of fish-bone.

It's a situation which crept up on us over the years.

As things got more complicated, we kept trying to take them apart and make them simple.

What happened was that, as people's problems became more complex, we began producing specialists in problems but very few generalists in people.

Take HEW, for example. Eight of every 10 of the men, women or children who need help from us need more than one kind of help.

But we go to the job "program by program." We take people apart and try to fit them into all the various Titles and Acts of federal law.

This approach has never worked. And today, when awareness of human problems is so acute and when so many potential solutions are at hand, it has become tragically inadequate.

HEW is responsible for more than 270 specialized programs of human assistance administered by dozens of state and local agencies. Human beings get lost in the process, if they can get in at all.

Today, people are demanding a change.

Proponents of change include the people who support social service workers, health and education specialists, government leaders, and people in need.

They all agree we have to go back to viewing people as whole individuals and not as a collection of problems which eliminates waste and duplication and still gets the job done.

The problem does not lie entirely or even principally with the professionals who are trying to help.

The doctors, the teachers, the social workers who work with them in the system are frustrated by it. And the better and more caring they are, the more frustrated they are.

The problem is the system—the laws, the rules, the regulations, the traditions which have grown up over the years until they have become an impenetrable thicket. It's the system we must change.

As Part of Bottomland, Quad-Cities Chief Victim of Policies Decided by the Region

A love-hate relationship may be inevitable between the heart of what the federal government calls a "standard" metropolitan statistical area (SMSA) and the communities grouped around the central city or—in the case of St. Louis—, the central city and county.

The Quad-Cities and Madison County at present are a part of the Illinois portion of the St. Louis SMSA.

The local area truly likes the benefits, and accepts disadvantages of being a relatively little apple on the tree that is the St. Louis metropolis. It resents being shouldered aside, whether subtly or obviously, by bigger boys when goodies like economic development are up for grabs.

We have always enjoyed living in the Quad-Cities. Born in Granite City and a lifelong local resident, we have never tried to fully analyze what it is that is so great about not only working but residing here. Part of it has to do with the good people.

Another part certainly is the aspect of "having one's cake and eating it, too"—enjoying the diversity found in one of the world's largest metropolitan areas while simultaneously benefitting from the smaller-town acquaintanceships and friendliness possible in a community of less than 100,000.

Regional planners are moving rapidly from a "planning and coordination" foot-in-the-door to "operating and decision-making" super-government dominance.

In effect, they are saying that we no longer can have our cake—not very many crumbs, either.

They threw a haymaker at us with the land use plans adopted in late September and are on the verge of delivering a knockout blow through enactment of specific land controls prior to Dec. 31.

The two steps are necessary if the region is to continue receiving vast federal funding, but the way they are being carried out could take a different form—and unfortunately is taking place in a way extremely detrimental to the Quad-Cities.

The East-West Gateway Coordinating Council is taking pains to shut down "botchmen" and "botchmen" while claiming the whole thing is not very important anyway — "mostly rural."

Whether Granite City, Madison,

Venice, Pontoon Beach, Madison County and the Southwestern Illinois Metropolitan Area Planning Commission will jointly rally to withstand this kind of assault is uncertain because most of the geographic areas of the latter two jurisdictions are not directly affected.

It is primarily the Quad-Cities and, to some extent, the Wood River area, that stands to lose so much. East St. Louis also is "flood plain" territory but has reached virtually maximum development already; more or less hemmed-in already, it has less to lose from a ban on growth.

So, it's the Quad-Cities out there on the lonely limb of being closed to almost any kind of new growth, along regional control is going to effect.

It is a popular fallacy to say that growth for growth's sake isn't worthwhile—that it's the wrong goal.

There is some truth in that, of course; it's the quality of life, not the quantity of things, that is significant.

But to choke off all growth deteriorates the economic well-being of a community as its neighborhoods grow older and as population density-per-block declines.

The pattern that can be generated is that of a snowball rolling downhill — people and firms leaving to escape the tax burden, their departure placing the financial load on fewer numbers, some of them then moving away because of the added tax load, which then deepens the remaining burden.

It's the kind of vicious cycle that has plagued East St. Louis.

It is against this kind of downhill plunge—which would not benefit either the Quad-Cities or the bi-state region surrounding it, that all must guard against this fall. It could be the most crucial autumn in history.

It is the kind of community that has the most at stake—the Quad-Cities—that must provide the leadership for a reversal of the highly disturbing trend of recent months.

When common sense is combined with the Golden Rule, very little bad luck develops.

Babies are angels whose wings grow shorter as their legs grow longer.

Newspapers—for Full Information

(Publishers' Auxiliary)

National Newspaper Week Oct. 8-14, 1972, has a theme of "Newspapers—the full information medium."

The three purposes of Newspaper Week '72 are to provide the opportunity for newspapers to:

1. Focus attention on the fundamental importance of First Amendment freedoms.
2. Explain that the liberty exercised by the press belongs to all the people, not to the press alone.
3. Stress their essential role of community service and their vital contributions to the social, religious, educational and economic lives of their communities.

The theme and intent of Newspaper Week '72 are carried over into a joint resolution offered in Congress by Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr. (D, N.C.) and Rep. Clarence J. Brown (R, Ohio).

In introducing the resolution, Rep. Brown declared that newspapers are "the bedrock of the news media. Newspapers cover the broadcast spectrum of society without regard to the clock or the calendar that restrict other forms of the media."

Sen. Ervin said that newspapers "have added greatly to the social, intellectual and spiritual horizons of us all."

"Despite some attempts by government over the years to quiet or intimidate the press, our nation continues to be enriched by an active, independent and robust press."

Vice-President Spiro T. Agnew issued this statement:

CHURCHES AID SECOND POOREST U. S. COUNTY

To the Editor:

Our son Russell is a board member of the Hazel Green Academy in Hazel Green, Ky., and is a member of the Appalachian mountains in Eastern Kentucky, 80 miles from Lexington.

Wolfe County is the second poorest county in the United States, first place being held by a county in the state of Mississippi.

Hazel Green Academy is a four-year accredited high school for boys and girls.

Back in 1880, congregations of the Christian Churches saw a need the church could meet. With the help of the parent organization The United Christian Missionary Society, Hazel Green Academy was born and has been ministering to the needs of the people in that area ever since.

For over 90 years, it has been rendering continuous service to the youth in the Appalachian mountain counties. Its purpose has been to mold the character through Christian education. The total program is designed to provide for the academic growth of the student, as well as moral, religious and social development.

They have about 100 students who mostly live in dormitories on the campus, in a total of seven beautiful buildings.

Most of the students are "dropouts," the churches are pleased that 80% of the graduates go on to college and university. Former Hazel Green students are leaders across the U.S.A.

One of a few of the students are able to pay tuition or living expenses, but the lack of money does not keep any student away.

Academy rules are strictly enforced; obscene language, alcohol, beverages, drugs and smoking are not tolerated at any time.

MR. AND MRS. DALE H. SEGAR. They were married at St. Paul United Church of Christ in Edwardsville. The bride is the former Miss Helen Elaine Owens, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James N. Owens of Edwardsville.

Segar-Owens Wedding at St. Paul United Church

St. Paul United Church of Christ in Edwardsville was the scene of the wedding of Miss Helen Elaine Owens, who became the bride of Dale Howard Segar on Sept. 30.

Officiating at the 1 o'clock double ring ceremony was the Rev. Glenn Davis, pastor.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. James N. Owens, 615 Hill Lane, Edwardsville, and Mr. and Mrs. Ervin Segar of Rural Route Six, Edwardsville. Mrs. James R. Owens, sister-in-law of the bride, served as matron of honor. Larry Wayne Segar, a brother of the groom, was best man.

Guests were seated by James R. Owens, brother of the bride and John Young, ushers.

The bride wore a white em-broidered gown with long full sleeves gathered above the elbow and at the wrists into lace bands.

A detachable chapel length train was bordered in matching trim and a full veil of bridal illusion was secured to a pearl encrusted headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations.

The matron of honor chose a gown of yellow satin and her bouquet was made up of white carnations tipped in yellow.

The former Miss Owens is a 1972 graduate of Edwardsville High School. Her husband, a 1970 graduate of the same school, is employed at Granite City Steel Co.

The couple greeted relatives and friends at a reception held in the fellowship hall at the church immediately following the ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Segar are residing at East 30 Mobile Home Court in Glen Carbon.

Business Women Start Investment Club

Mrs. Ruth Milhouser has been elected to serve as president of the new Investment Club, sponsored by the finance committee of the Granite City Business and Professional Women's Club. She was named at a meeting held last week at the East Side Levee Board office.

The investment group was organized to help women better understand the credit society and the tools of investment and to use these guidelines in relation to their individual financial status. Mrs. Milhouser explained.

With information gained through club programs the members will be encouraged to learn investment principles and gain experience in applying them, thereby increasing their economic understanding in wisely and confidently investing money for retirement.

Dream Power.

Every person that lives has some kind of dream. The day he doesn't, he's dead. The ability to imagine is one of the most precious powers we have.

Dreams change things. Some dreams may change your world. And some dreams may call for money.

U.S. Savings Bonds are the safe way to make sure some of your dreams come true. And, they're easy to buy. Your bank sells 'em. Or, you can probably buy them through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work. Bonds build you a sizeable nest egg. While you build a dream. Bond power. That's real dream power.

Now if Bonds gave you 10 percent interest, you could build a nest egg of $10,000 in 10 years. But you can't get 10 percent interest. So you can't build a nest egg of $10,000 in 10 years. But you can build a nest egg of $10,000 in 10 years. So you can build a nest egg of $10,000 in 10 years.

Carol Ann Volkmar and Gary Sturdivant Wed

Miss Carol Ann Volkmar became the bride of Gary E. Sturdivant in an evening ceremony Saturday at St. John United Church of Christ.

The Rev. Robert Kettiehu, pastor of St. Peter Evangelical United Church of Christ, officiated at the double ring ceremony at 7:30 o'clock. Bouquets of white carnations adorned the altar and white satin bows marked the pews for the candlelight services.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Volkmar, 2117 Pontoon Road, and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sturdivant, 2217 Cardinal Ave.

Preceding the arrival of the wedding party, Mrs. Irene Barrick, organist, played "I Believe," "Whither Thou Goest" and "Wedding Prayer."

Mr. Volkmar escorted his daughter down the white carpeted aisle and gave her in marriage. She chose an exquisite bridal gown of peau d'ange lace and ivory satin designed in Victorian style.

A window pane effect of silk English net and appliques of matching lace accented the fitted bodice and the long bishop sleeves. The high collar and wide cuffs were created of peau d'ange lace.

An ivory satin belt encircled the Empire waist ending in a tailored bow at the back, and the softly gathered A-line skirt, enhanced with a detachable train of ivory satin, fell gently to cathedral length.

Ivory lace accented with ribbon streamers formed the headpiece to hold in place a bouffant veil of illusion. She carried a teardrop bouquet of white carnations centered with yellow roses and festooned with brown and gold streamers.

Miss Pam Peters, maid of honor, wore a brown chiffon frock, full length, featuring an Empire waist defined with ivory lace and brown velvet ribbon.

Miss Jane Lambert, Mrs. Debbie Doughty, a sister of the groom, and Miss Dorothy Fryntko were the bridesmaids. The junior bridesmaid was Miss Darla Sturdivant, a cousin of the groom.

The maids appeared in gold and brown chiffon dresses designed identical in style to the junior attendant's gown. Each young woman carried three long stem yellow roses.

The groom chose Tom Talley as best man. David Spiker, David Doughty, the groom's brother-in-law, and Mike Nichols were groomsmen, with Roger Volkmar, a cousin of the bride, as junior groomsman.

Ushers were Randy Sturdivant, a cousin of the groom, and Alan Volkmar, the bride's brother.

A reception was held at the Polish Hall in Madison following the ceremony.

Both young people are graduates of Granite City High School and are attending Southern Illinois University, Edwardsville. Mr. Sturdivant has completed four years service with the U. S. Air Force.

The mothers of the bridal couple wore formal length gowns. Volkmar selected a turquoise crepe made with a fitted bodice, accented with white and turquoise embroidered appliques, and long chiffon sleeves. She wore matching accessories.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Sturdivant, was attired in an aqua chiffon frock designed with a chiffon ruffle trimming the neckline and extending to the waist. The dress featured long sleeves and a satin ribbon encircling the waist, tied in a bow at the front. Both mothers wore corsages of yellow roses.

Kathleen Alger Wed In Evening Ceremony

Miss Kathleen Alger, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tellie Ford Alger, 26 Meadowbrook Court, and Larry D. Marshall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Riggs, 2207 Lee Ave., exchanged wedding vows at 7 p.m. Saturday at Grace Baptist Church.

Branches candleabra holding tall white tapers and altar bouquets of white mums with accents of blue flowers and greenery provided the setting for the double ring ceremony performed by the Rev. Lee Holland.

Dennis Myracle sang "Wedding Song" and "I Love You Truly" accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Mary Parchment. A reception for over 100 guests was given in the church fellowship hall immediately following the ceremony. Attending the guest book were Mrs. Cecelia Blaylock and Mrs. Christine Cavins.

For her wedding, the former Miss Alger chose a pure white satin gown fashioned with an Empire bodice of imported Venice lace. The lace extended to form a cap effect on the sheerest sleeves that were closed at the wrists with a row of tiny satin covered buttons.

A long full skirt of satin, trimmed at the hemline with a band of matching lace, terminated in a full sweep train. She wore a soft bow headpiece applied with Venice lace motifs to secure a shoulder length veil of bridal illusion traced with lace appliques. The bridal bouquet was a modified cascade of blue pom poms, roses and stephanotis, encircled with greenery and long satin ribbons.

Matron of honor, Mrs. Diana Peoples, and bridesmaid, Mrs. Donna Cralley, sisters of the bride and groom, were attired alike in turquoise floral taffeta dresses. Their gowns were designed with ruffled necklines and long sleeves, cuffed with tiny ruffles.

An accent sash encircled the waist and tied with a bow at the back. A triple row of ruffles created the hem of the long skirts. Wide headbands of turquoise taffeta were attached with nose tip veils and they carried cascades of roses, pom poms and stephanotis, looped with long satin streamers.

Sheri and Becky Cavins served as flower girls. They wore long dresses of pale aqua voile imprinted with tiny rosebuds and leaves over deep turquoise waffle-weave fabric. The skirts were very bouffant and gathered to Empire waists, and ruffles cuffed the long full sleeves.

On their hair they wore ruffled headbands, interspersed with blue flowers, and each girl carried a miniature bouquet of blue pom poms, roses and stephanotis.

Dennis Cralley was best man, with Kevin Peoples as groomsman. They are brothers-in-law of the bride and groom. Mike and Mark Malin, twin nephews of the bride, seated the guests. Mrs. Alger, mother of the bride, selected a dark brown double knit dress, complemented with a long sleeveless coat of beige lace.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Riggs, wore a two-piece dress in shades of dark green and blue. Both wore corsages of white carnations.

A graduate of Granite City High School in 1968, the bride formerly was employed as a long distance operator with Southwestern Bell Telephone Co.

Her husband, a veteran of the Vietnam War, served six years in the U. S. Army. He is a 1963 graduate of Granite City High School and currently works as a security guard at American

PTA — People Taking Action!

Art Linbletter, National PTA Honorary Membership Chairman, and Mrs. Elizabeth Mallory, National PTA President, invite you to join them on one of the most exciting adventures of all time... working to insure the best possible of worlds for children. For 75 years, the PTA has fought anything that threatens the quality of a child's life. PTA continues to fight health hazards like drug abuse, smoking, alcoholism... and threats to quality education such as reading disabilities, teacher and student unrest, and racial imbalance. All these and more are PTA concerns. What better way to show your concern than through PTA... people taking action for all children. Join your PTA today!

One of the most significant anniversaries in the history of volunteerism occurs in 1972—the PTA celebrates its 75th year of working for the benefit of children and youth. Founder Alice McEllan Birney and Phoebe Apperson Hearst, who recognized the great need for such volunteer movement, organized the first PTA meeting on February 17, 1897 in Washington, D.C.

The concept of PTA swept the nation, and now seventy-five years later, the organization has grown to one of almost 3,000,000 members. Since that time, scarcely a year has passed that the PTA has not implemented a project or involved its members in a new activity that benefited children.

In Idaho, the PTA sued government officials for "misusing" school funds. In California, the PTA attacked the governor for failing to support adequate school finance reform and in the PTA's, the PTA sponsored a mass rally which succeeded in preventing proposed teacher layoffs. A prominent editor said recently, "Just as war is too important to be left to the generals, so public schooling is too important to be left to the educators. The PTA is still the bulwark of the parental troops."

Membership in PTA is through the local school. If you are anyone interested in the well-being of the children, join the PTA troops—call today!

DESIGN OF A POSTAGE STAMP to salute the 75th Anniversary of the National PTA is a blackboard with the lettering in a child's script. The blackboard is bordered in yellow and the chalk is in white. Print order of the 8-cent stamp is 135 million by gravure. The PTA was founded in Washington, D.C. in 1897 by Phoebe Apperson Hearst, wife of U.S. Senator George Hearst and mother of William Randolph Hearst, and Alice McEllan Birney, wife of a prominent Washington attorney. During its 75 years of working for the welfare of all children, the PTA:

- In 1899 petitioned Congress for a National Health Bureau (14 years before creation of the U.S. Public Health Service).
- In 1906 played a key role in the passage of the Pure Food Bill.
- In 1946 was named primarily responsible for the passage of the federal school lunch program.
- In 1951 conducted a national conference on narcotics and drug addiction.
- In 1965 shipped more than a million books to mountain schools in Appalachia.
- In 1970 initiated Project RISE (Reading Improvement Service) in the nation.
- In 1972, under federal funding, integrated alcohol education into its smoking and health project with plans for several pilot programs to be tested at the state level.

Many Violations of Open Burning Law Apparent

By JAMES R. SHEARL
U. of I. Asst. Extension Adviser

The new open burning regulations enacted Sept. 2, 1971, by the Illinois Pollution Control Board have been in effect well over a year now, but it is very apparent that numerous violations still exist. Perhaps one reason for the remaining existence of violations is misinterpretation of the law.

One regulation that is confusing to many people concerns the belief that because residents of incorporated towns of less than 1,000 people, many people believe that because they live in a town of less than 1,000 people they can burn their domestic waste. This is not true.

The new open burning regulations state that open burning of refuse within municipalities is prohibited. For example, if an area incorporated as a town has only three inhabitants, open burning of refuse is illegal within the city limits.

The ruling regarding the 1,000 population comes up concerning how far away from a municipality a person must be before he can legally burn.

Homeowners and farmers living immediately outside the city limits of an incorporated town of 1,000 people or less may burn domestic waste or agriculture waste generated on the farm.

Homeowners and farmers living one mile or more from an incorporated town of more than 1,000 people also may burn domestic refuse or agriculture waste generated on the farm.

Includes Landscape Waste. Both items mentioned above, domestic waste refers to any refuse generated on a single-family domiciliary property as a result of domiciliary activities. The term includes landscape waste, but excludes garbage and trade waste.

With the leaves of autumn ready to fall, the big problem comes up in deciding what to do with leaves when burning is not allowed.

Three basic things can be done with leaves. One alternative is to rake leaves, bag them and have them hauled away. Two other ideas that are increasing in popularity include mowing and composting of leaves.

Mowing leaves is an effective way of getting rid of leaves without raking and increasing the fertility of the home lawn at the same time. Leaves are most effectively cut if mowed while dry.

If you are a gardener, composting may interest you. Compost is deteriorated vegetable matter which when mixed with the soil increases the soil tilth by making it loose and easy to work.

Compost can be made from leaves, straw, grass clippings, and any other disease-free vegetable matter.

To make compost, pile the plant material in layers as it accumulates. Add about one pound of a lime-fertilizer mixture to each 10 pounds of fine material. The fertilizer will hasten decay and improve fertility of the compost.

Cover With Soil

Spread soil over the compost pile to hold it in place. Water the pile to keep it damp and occasionally turn and mix the soil and decaying material.

The compost will be ready to spread over the garden in 6 to 12 months.

Bottomland Discussed as Geographers Meet in Area

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is situated on the edge of the American Bottoms, the flood plain below the confluence of the Mississippi and Illinois Rivers. The fertile, level soil has historically attracted settlement, and this year it also attracted the annual meeting of the West Lakes Division of the American Association of Geographers (AAG).

The meeting was held Friday and Saturday at Stouffer's Riverfront Inn in St. Louis. The geographers took field trips in St. Louis and in the Bottoms.

"The flood plain is the result of natural water action; it's produced by running water, in this case by the two streams, the Mississippi and the Missouri River," explained Robert Keopke, associate professor of earth sciences at SIUE. The university was the host institution, and Keopke was chairman of the meeting.

"The American Bottoms is possibly the largest concentration of people on a flood plain in the U.S.," said Keopke. He said this could only occur, however, after flooding could be controlled.

"Historically, during periods of heavy floods you could drive a river boat all the way up to the bluffs at what now would be Illinois Highway 157," he said.

"Early settlement activity was predominantly oriented toward the building of levees." The geographers were interested in the area for a number of reasons, and a field trip led by Keopke and Ronald Yarbrough of SIUE focused on two areas of interest: Yarbrough on "Physical—Regions of the American Bottoms"; and Keopke and his students on the "Cahokia Canal Watershed."

"While people were worrying about levees," Keopke said, "the thing that was not followed through on was taking care of the internal drainage" in the Bottoms. The Cahokia Canal, built in the early 1800s, "was designed for a predominantly agricultural region, and now the canal watershed is no longer agricultural."

These shifting patterns of occupation are important to the modern urban planner, and Keopke said his research will lead to a plan for the development of the area.

ment of the canal watershed. Other members of the earth sciences faculty participated in the meeting.

Melvin E. Kazeck, chairman of the faculty, presided over a graduate student paper competition. Yarbrough presented a paper entitled "The Question of the Extent of Glacial Lake Kaskaskia in St. Clair County, Ill., and its Effect Upon Regional Planning."

Professor Harry B. Kircher of Edwardsville chaired a session on urban and social geography. Kircher, Keopke, Yarbrough and assistant professor Robert E. Mendelson led the field trips.

One student at SIUE, also employed by the St. Louis Regional Industrial Development Corp., James Holdreder, led a tour of the St. Louis riverfront area.

Dr. Andrew Kochman, vice-president and provost of SIUE, welcomed the geographers at a luncheon at noon Friday. The speaker at that meeting was Julian Wolpert, professor of regional science at the University of Pennsylvania, and vice-president of the AAG.

Elderly Being Trained As Foster Grandparents

"Now I can tell my nephew I've been to college," said an elderly woman being trained for the Madison County Foster Grandparent program at Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The woman, who said she had never before been on a university campus, made the remark to Anthony Traxler, SIUE psychology professor, who had just discussed special problems of child development with the trainees.

Traxler is serving as a consultant to the Madison County Economic Opportunity Commission, funded earlier this year by the federal agency ACTION to operate a Foster Grandparent program.

The program offers low-income persons over 60 the opportunity to provide individual companionship and guidance to physically, mentally and emotionally handicapped children. Trainees will be placed as Foster Grandparents at the Beverly Farm Foundation in Godfrey and the Warren G. Murray State School in Centerville.

"This is the beginning of the involvement of the university's Education Division with this program," Traxler said. "We'll be coordinating orientation programs in the area for now. Sometime soon I plan to write a grant proposal to fund further university involvement."

To qualify for the program, persons must be over 60, in good health, with annual income not exceeding $2,000 per year for single persons and $2,900 for couples. Participants work 20 hours per week at $1.60 per hour. They also receive sick leave, vacation benefits, annual physical examinations, accident insurance and one hot meal per day from the institution they are working for.

Traxler said interested persons may obtain more information by calling 656-8240 in Edwardsville or 465-8871 in Alton.

"My impressions of this program are excellent," Traxler said. "The woman who was so excited about being at SIUE and all the others have been just great during orientation. I guess I have a special interest in this program, because my specialty is life-span developmental psychology and the Foster Grandparents program takes in both ends of the life span continuum."

Do people who have Nite Lite service sleep better?

Probably. Nite Lite is the automatic outdoor watchman. It switches on at dusk, casts a wide beam of light around your premises all night. At dawn, Nite Lite turns itself off. Outdoor lighting is one of the best security measures you can take. That's because thieves, vandals and prowlers much prefer to work under the cover of darkness. With Nite Lite service, your premises are never dark after dark. If you have a home or a business in an area not illuminated by street lighting, consider Nite Lite service. A monthly rental charge covers installation, maintenance and all the electricity the light uses. For complete information, ask any Illinois Power Employee. And sleep tight.
